FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

SPECIAL AUDIT.

Pensions and Gratuities.

VERIFICATION OF SERVICES BEFORE PREPARATION OF PENSION APPLICATIONS.

To all Heads of Departments.

Circular No. 2076—Pen. 97, dated 16*th August* 1905.

Under standing orders the verification of a non-gazetted officer's services must be completed before a pension application is submitted in his behalf through this office, to the Government. This rule has not been always observed, and the responsibility for the delay in the disposal of pension cases often appears to rest with this office, when it really rests with those who have not completed the verification properly. This procedure will not only prevent delay in the submission of pension applications, but guard against officers being retired who may not have completed sufficient qualifying service entitling them to the rate of pension or gratuity recommended.

2. Any application for pension received before the verification of the applicant's services is complete, will be returned to the officer submitting it, with the remark that it cannot be received in that state as a pension case, but that it can be accepted as a verification case. The responsibility for undue delay in the disposal of an applicant's pension case after his retirement, will thus distinctly rest upon the head of his department; for nine cases out of ten are received in this office incompletely drawn up, and have necessarily to be returned more than once for furnishing all the information that is wanted before final disposal.

3. In the case of a gazetted officer, a formal verification of his services is unnecessary, except when a portion of his service has been passed in non-gazetted appointments, in which case a statement of his services should be submitted to this office before his application for pension or gratuity is drawn up.

4. These orders do not refer to inferior officers, and their pension papers may therefore be submitted without such verification through the controlling officers concerned; but all such applications should be accompanied by all the documents necessary for proof of the service therein recorded, such as—

(1) Service book.
(2) Last pay certificate.
(3) Medical certificate (in the case of an applicant for pension less than sixty years old).
(4) Written statements and all the collateral evidence procurable (see Article 470 (e), Mysore Service Regulations).

5. If this office discovers discrepancies or irregularities in applications for pension, they will be returned to the Head of office for completion.

6. In the case of inferior officers, a portion of whose services has been superior, this portion of course requires previous verification in this office before the pension application can be submitted.

7. There are therefore three classes of officers, divided thus:—

I. Superior { (1) Gazetted / (2) Non-gazetted
II. Inferior

and the application must be prepared in accordance with the rules above laid down according to the class to which the officer belongs.

Please note, that the above instructions will be strictly enforced from 1st October 1905, that is, the services of officers retiring on and after that date must be made subject to preliminary verification.

FORMAL APPLICATION FOR PENSION.

Non-gazetted Officers.

The head of an office before despatching an application for pension or gratuity to the Comptroller should satisfy himself that the application has been prepared in conformity with the instructions below. Applications for Pension or Gratuity should always be regarded as urgent and not be treated as papers to be dealt with in ordinary course; and cannot be refused to be submitted by the head of an office on behalf of a retired officer, even though prima facie no retiring allowance is admissible to him under the rules.
